Secretary of State Kevin Shelley Announces Support of Legislation to Close Campaign Finance Loophole

SACRAMENTO --- Secretary of State Kevin Shelley issued the following statement today in support of legislation introduced by Assemblywoman Nicole M. Parra (D-Hanford) that will close a major loophole in California's campaign finance law:

"I support any effort to eliminate this serious flaw with California's campaign finance law.

"The public deserves and expects full and complete disclosure of vital campaign finance records – especially during the last few days before an election. This law will ensure that all last minute donations to candidates from all parties are reported and disclosed every 24-hours, in the same manner as all other contributions."
